"For Charity Suffereth Long."

Mrs. Laura C. Phoenix, Milwaukee, Wis.

"Matron of a Benevolent Home and knowing the good Dr. Miles' Nervine has done me, my wish to help others, overcomes my dislike for the publicity, this letter may give me. In Nov. and Dec., 1893, The inmates had the 'La Grippe,' and I was one of the first. Resuming duty too soon, with the care of so many sick, I did not regain my health, and in a month I became so debilitated and nervous from sleeplessness and the drafts made on my vitality, that it was a question if I could go on. A dear friend advised me to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I took 2 bottles and am happy to say, I am in better health than ever. I still continue its occasional use, as a nerve food, as my work is very trying. A letter addressed to Milwaukee, Wis., will reach me." June 6, 1894. MRS. LAURA C. PHOENIX.

An "All Round" Man.

General Bushnell is at once a shrewd, far-seeing, able man of affairs, and a thinker on important problems of an economic character. If he is elected, as he will be by a handsome majority, if Republicans do not shirk their duty on election day, he will give this state the best business administration it has had since the war.

Ohio has had a good many distinguished men for governor within the last 30 years, but as a rule they have been men with strong, though becoming ambition; they were looking to the future and could not address themselves wholly to the problems of administration before them.

If General Bushnell is elected he will apply business methods to every department of the government and see to it that the affairs of the state are conducted in a systematic, economical and efficient way. For a quarter of a century he has been managing a great private enterprise in which he has paid out vast sums to labor and has given employment to from 1,250 to 2,000 men. A man who can make a success of his own affairs, which command executive ability of the highest order, ought to be trusted to make a success of the administration of the affairs of the state of Ohio.

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a Severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c for large bottle. Who Lie Buried at Fort Meigs.

The Interest Being Awakened and will Result Favorably.

Nearly every paper contains some worthy mention of old Fort Meigs, a few of which we copy below:

For years the matter of making this ground a National park under ownership and guidance of the government, has been discussed, but for some almost unaccountable reason the matter has never received the merited success entitled to it. The grounds have been allowed to go wild, practically, and long since the government ceased to be its owners it being sold to private parties. The site is awe-inspiring, the majestic mounds made by contending armies, the hills and valleys—the result of nature's handiwork, the quiet, unostentatious Maumee working its way through the valley below, thrills one with the necessity of the proper recognition of these most sacred grounds, and causes one to ponder and ruminate in his mind why they have been so desecrated. Certainly this grand patriotic government of ours will not longer allow old Fort Meigs to go without the proper recognition.—North Baltimore Beacon.

As to the wisdom of governmental recognition of Ft. Meigs and its gallant dead, we shall say considerable in the future.—Delta Atlas.

A SPLENDID MEETING

And Splendid Speeches by the Republican Leaders.

The Republican meeting at Bowling Green on Thursday was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience.

Early in the morning people from all parts of the county might be seen coming in to see and hear two of the greatest political leaders of the day.

They were met by a large number of enthusiastic admirers at the depot and escorted to the Hotel Brown where a reception was held.

The meeting was called to order at 1:15 p. m. by Judge Nearing and after a musical selection by the famous Bowling Green quartette, the Judge introduced E. L. Blue, of the Perryburg JOURNAL, as the chairman of the meeting, who, in a very few words introduced Ohio's next Governor—Gen. Asa S. Bushnell.

The General prefaced his remarks by referring in very complimentary terms to Wood county, her towns and people and then continued a short speech in which he gave his hearers many solid facts and many evidences why the people would best serve their own interests and the interests of the country at large by voting the Republican ticket. He was frequently interrupted by applause and his speech and personal appearance together with the admirable record and reputation of the speaker, made him the object of admiration and profound respect of all who met him.

Following the speech of General Bushnell, the chairman in a few words eulogistic of the life and record of the ex-Governor, introduced that fearless leader, the peerless American—Hon. Joseph Benson Foraker.

Cheer after cheer rent the air as this uncompromising patriot stepped to the front of the stage, and after he had concluded one of the best of his many able speeches, it was apparent that every person in the audience regardless of political preferences was proud of the fact that ex Gov. Foraker was an Ohio man. At the close of the meeting many crowded about the distinguished gentlemen for the purpose of congratulations.

It was a good meeting. The quartette rendered several selections that were highly pleasing.

JAMES F. SKINNER

Killed by the Cars at Tontogany.

A very sad accident occurred at Tontogany on Saturday last at 3 p. m. which subsequently resulted in the death of one of Wood county's old and highly respected citizen. The particulars are as follows:

Mr. Skinner was down town and started for home and upon his arrival at the railroad found the crossing blocked by a freight train. Not wishing to wait he walked down the line about 150 feet, and before crossing looked up to see if the train was coming toward him on the main track, and while standing at the edge of the west track the Bowling Green freight backed down upon him. He was struck by the car and thrown under the wheels in such manner that his left leg was crushed and the last three fingers of the left hand cut off.

He was at once removed to his home and Dr. Edmon, the C. H. & D. R. R. surgeon, and Dr. Davis of Tontogany were called.

At 6:30 p. m. Drs. J. H. and W. H. Rheinfrank C. H. & D. R. R. surgeons of Perryburg were called and amputated the left limb above the knee and a portion of three injured fingers.

Every effort was made to save the life of the injured man but without avail and he breathed his last on Sunday morning at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Skinner was born in Perry county, O., Oct. 17, 1817, and came to Wood county at a very early day.

He was a brother to Mrs. Phebe Black mother Capt. Black of B. G., and Mrs. Edmon of Tontogany. He leaves a widow who has the sympathy of a large number of friends. The funeral services were conducted at the M. E. church, Tontogany at 10 a. m. under the direction of Tontogany lodge F. and A. M. of which the deceased was an old and honored member.

THE WOMAN DOCTOR.

Reminding Us of the Eternal and Immutable Disparity of Sex.

The woman doctor is already an accomplished fact, but as yet she has apparently made no considerable way in public favor, says the Scottish Review. It may be contended that there is something in the art of healing in accord with the primary instincts of a woman's nature. But if we look closer into the subject it will be seen that there is more than mere prejudices and long-established custom to account for the exclusion of the female sex in the past from the practice of this calling. Have women the calmness of nerve—the plom, so to say—the steadiness of hand and pulse for the work of the surgeon? Is it possible to suppose that a non-abnormal woman, with her more highly strung constitutional sensibility, could amputate a limb with the same imperturbability that we should look for in the male operator?

To this it may be replied that granting a certain drawback to women by reason of sex in the matter of surgical experiments, the case is different with the "metier" of the physician, and that here, at least, the sexes can compete on terms of perfect equality. Yet, again, as a matter of plain fact, are the services of lady doctors much in request with their own sex—nay, even in those branches of the therapeutic art dealing with specially feminine ailments? Moreover, if the advanced woman's theory of exact professional equality and indifference as to sex is to be maintained, why should any barrier suggest itself to the consultation of medical women by men, any more than now exists in the calling in of women of the male practitioner? But is there no such barrier? Surely the mere statement of the case disposes of the parity argument.

We have heard of a man here and there resorting to lady experts in massage, but that men should go to women doctors and lay bare their bodily symptoms in the same way as women have done from time immemorial to their male medical advisers, would be a procedure repugnant on both sides, and "not convenient" for obvious reasons.

Here, then, while admitting that a sprinkling of females may, perhaps, usefully find their mission in obtaining employment as doctors among a limited number of their own sex, we are brought face to face with the eternal and immutable disparity of sex.

CRICKET FIGHTING.

One of the Favorite Sports of Chinese Gamblers.

The Chinese are inveterate gamblers, and never lose an opportunity to bet, no matter how trivial the cause may be. One of their great institutions is cricket fighting, the crickets being caught, fed and trained carefully as a blooded horse.

There is a fixed diet for them, part of the food consisting of honey and boiled chestnuts. If they get sick they are fed with mosquitoes. Prior to fighting their weight is ascertained and duly recorded, there being a fixed regulation as to their size and weight.

On the door of the house in which the fight is to take place the record of each cricket is pasted up, and the owner of the winner gets ten per cent. of all the bets.

The cricket pit is a low tub placed on a table, and, after weighing, the combatants are put in it and tickled with straws until they rush at each other with loud chirrups and fight until one of them is killed.

ONLY SIX WEEP TEARS OF JOY.
How the Heroes of a Hundred Different Novels Propose.

Some one with nothing else to do has investigated the way in which heroes in a hundred different novels are represented as proposing. Seventy-two, says London Answers, hold the lady's hand, seventeen hold it very tightly, fourteen have lumps in their throats and nine exclaim aloud: "Thank heaven!" Only seven out of the hundred declare themselves to be deliciously happy, and five are too full for utterance. Three out of the hundred stand on their feet when they make a proposal and two go down on one knee, while nine make formal speeches. The behavior of the lady under the circumstances is equally entertaining and instructive. Out of the hundred cases eighty-one sink into the arms of the gentlemen, sixty-eight rest their heads on the gentleman's breast, and only one sinks into the arms of a chair; eleven clasp their arms around the gentleman's neck; six weep tears of joy silently and forty-four weep tears aloud—whatever that means; seventy-two have eyes full of love, and nine of the hundred rush from the room and tell everybody. Only four are greatly surprised, and eighty-seven out of the hundred knew that something was coming. Five giggle hysterically. Only one of the hundred struggle not to be kissed, while six kiss their lovers first.

AN INLAND LAKE WITH TIDES.
Peculiarities of Kildine Described by Russian Scientists.

Russian scientists have lately been studying the curious island of Kildine, off the coast of Russian Lapland, and separated from it by a narrow strait. This island, says the New York Sun, has a lake that has no visible connection with the sea, but is affected with tidal movements. To be sure, the tides in the lake rise and fall only a few inches, while those in the surrounding sea rise and fall several feet. The periodicity of the lake tides makes it plain that the lake has subterranean communication with the sea.

The water on the island is of three kinds, fresh water from ruins and from brooks at the highest points; a little lower salt water like that of the sea; at the lowest point sea water, surcharged with free sulphuretted hydrogen. The fresh water is inhabited by the animal life usual in the fresh water of that region. The salt water has sea creatures, sponges and the like, while the water surcharged with sulphuretted hydrogen has neither vegetable nor animal life. The phenomenon of this sulphuretted hydrogen has its counterpart in the depths of the Black sea, where the presence of the gas destroys animal and vegetable life.
